Nuvera Gig Cities Ready to Ramp Up in Spring

Winter can be a time of hibernation for many construction projects. However critical behind-the-scenes planning and prep work is still taking place on the Nuvera Gig Cities project so that our crew and our construction partners are ready to hit the ground running once it thaws.

The transformation from copper to broadband is a monumental project but Nuvera made great strides in the past year and looks forward to continuing the momentum this year. Nuvera doubled our fiber passings in 2022 and will double them again in 2023.

Our engineers and construction partners are looking ahead to the coming season, reviewing maps, organizing plans, and making sure all the elements are in place for a productive season.

In addition, we have maintained communications with our partners in cities and counties across our construction areas.

We are thankful for their collaboration and assistance in keeping our communities informed of our plans and progress.

At the end of 2022, Nuvera was excited to announce our investment of $200 million is getting additional momentum to go further into rural areas with more than $8.6M in grants from the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED). Applications for the next round of DEED grants have now been submitted and we are optimistic about those grant requests, also.

It's impossible to pinpoint the exact timeframe in which the ground will be thawed enough for Nuvera's construction partners to be in the field again, working to bring blazing-fast fiber internet to our communities, but when it is, we'll be ready.

Learn more about our fiber internet project and check for availability at your address at NuveraGigCities.com or call 844.354.4111.

Cybercrime On the Rise: Protect Yourself With a Few Simple Steps

Cybercriminals are getting smarter and more sophisticated in the ways they target individuals and companies. There are several simple steps you can take to ensure your safety online at home or in the office.

Passwords

A strong password is your best defense against hackers and is one of the easiest steps you can take.

- Don't use the same password for multiple accounts. Using the same password makes it easy for cybercriminals to gain access to multiple accounts if they are able to crack one password.
- To create a strong password, use a combination of letters, numbers, and special characters and avoid using easily guessable information, such as your name or birthdate.
- Use a long passphrase, not just a word or two. For example, you can use a news headline or the title of a book you read. Then add some punctuation and capitalization.
- Don't make your passwords easy to guess, such as the name of your children or pets, or their birthdays.
- Substitute letters with numbers and punctuation marks or symbols.

Avoid Phishing Scams

Phishing scams are attempts to trick you into giving away personal information by pretending to be a legitimate source.

- Be cautious of unsolicited emails or text messages, and never click on links or provide personal information unless you are certain of the source's legitimacy.
- When you receive an email, call, or a private message on social media claiming to be a government official, family member, or friend requesting personal or financial information, it is more than likely a cybercriminal trying to get sensitive information from you.

- It is never a good idea to give out your social security number or financial information to anyone unless you are positive it is a source you can trust.

Other Cyber-Safety Tips Include:

- Be cautious when using public Wi-Fi. Never access sensitive information such as online banking or shopping sites from public Wi-Fi. Using a VPN (Virtual Private Network) while on public Wi-Fi can add an extra layer of protection.
- Be mindful of the personal information you share on social media and other online platforms. Cybercriminals can use this information to steal your identity or target you for a phishing scam.
- Keep your computer and other devices updated with the latest security patches and software updates.

If you have issues with malware on your computer or want to ensure that your device has adequate protection, the tech experts at Nuvera are ready to help you. Call our tech support line at 844.354.4111 or visit nuvera.net/technology-solutions-support to learn how we can help you.
